

Dear Customer:

This letter is to notify you that the Modular disconnect enclosure (AMOD, bulletin A34) line manufactured by nVent HOFFMAN will be discontinued as of December 31st, 2022. You have received this letter because our records indicate that you have purchased one of these enclosures in recent years.

The Modular disconnect enclosure has served the market for years and we understand the value it has provided to the industry. However, nVent HOFFMAN's current free-standing enclosure portfolio contains a wide selection of even better alternatives!

Alternative Products:

We have a selection of free-standing enclosures such as the Universal Free-Stand that would be excellent solutions to your current application. When you are ready to update your existing enclosure solution, we will help you select the correct conversion for your needs and application.

We apologize for any inconvenience this phase-out may cause, but remain eager to meet your future enclosure requirements. Feel free to contact your local sales rep or our customer service team should you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Jason Prom
Product Manager, HOFFMAN
